

NEWS RELEASE

Consumer products industry association supports new Clean Air Act

Ottawa, October 19, 2006 – The Canadian Consumer Specialty Products Association (CCSPA) said it supports the federal government’s new Clean Air Act, which was tabled in Parliament today.

Shannon Coombs, CCSPA’s Executive Director, said “we applaud the proposed legislation and support the federal government in their efforts to enhance and ensure the health and safety of Canadians and our environment.

“Our association and member companies look forward to working with the government as it progresses on its environmental agenda, and especially on any clarifications to proposed regulations to ensure Canadians continue to have access to safe and effective consumer products.”

-30-

Contact: Shannon Coombs, Executive Director, 613-232-6616 ext 18

---

CCSPA is a national trade association representing Canada’s consumer, industrial and institutional specialty products industry. Its mission is to enhance the ability of its 40 member companies to conduct business fairly, ethically and effectively by fostering industry cooperation, providing a national voice for communications and developing effective partnerships with governments, other stakeholders and the public.